"Who is the happiest of men? He who values the merits of others,
and in their pleasure takes joy, even
as though it were his own."

But wouldn't Senator Borah have made more of a hit in Dixie if he had bawled out nullification in South Carolina instead of in Georgia?

As Herriot is called on to form a new ministry out of nothing it is beginning to be apparent that what France really needs is not a new cabinet but a new government that'll go without so many wrecks—this one can't run on the bloc system.

Mr. Coolidge's three-pound pike is to be immortalized in a museum.
A fish loses nothing in popularity
by being caught by a President.
With fish and men it is the same.
As those who read may learn,
For some go in the Hall of Fame—
Some in the frying pan.

If it hadn't been for King G.
Gillette no nearsighted Eastern Republican could tell an Iowa radical from one of Peffer's Populists, but the party that couldn't be frightened
by whippersnappers is likely to be stamped out now that the gentleman is out in the open.

Mr. Tex Rickard promotes another championship match, but when does this battle begin?

Texas clergyman who was charged with murder Saturday
preaches the regular Sunday sermon
as usual and for the first time
"turns 'em way." The problem of how to get the people into the churches appears to have been solved at last.

Charlie Paddock, the champion sprinter, wins Bebe Daniels in five weeks. What detained you, Charlie?

Three former premiers are arrested in Greece, which reminds us that France has enough of them
now to organize a mob big enough to lead down two Bastilles.

Bucky Harris expects to get still another minor hurler, but haven't the Nats enough of that kind?

The Southern Railway feels the competition of the new Lizzie, and lays in a supply of green and gold locomotives with pink cowcatchers and purple wheels. This will do more to beautify our town than a dozen fine arts and zoning commissions.

misses me,
I miss the bliss my Swiss miss gives

King Boris is in Switzerland, lookyodeling?"

The Federal Trade Commission
goes gunning for the big butter and egg man from the West, and this is a literal statement of hard facts,
and not an attempt to pull a moth-eaten gag either.

The report of many persons being killed in a landslide and cave-
in on the railroad near Sarajevo, Bosnia, is denied, but anybody who has ever suffered in the innumerable tunnels on the narrow-gauge that runs up the beautiful valley of the Neretva is bound to admit that Nature probably never made a better place for one.

Increased shipments from Pacific coast ports via the Panama canal

course of empire takes its way.

The Los Angeles girl who is looking for Harry Thaw, ought to move up to the night club belt.

Alsace-Lorraine is talking "autonomy" with a strong German accent.

The Honorable Ophaw, of Georgia, launching his campaign for reelection on the defensive, draws the herring of Congressional "poker

Antislavery league coin.

When the Figaro with thinly veiled contempt of Uncle Sam describes the fall of Briand as the Chamber's answer to "foreign blackmail," it must be trying to make it an even-money bet that the American Legion in the end will decide to spend its money next year in America.

"Old Glory's" birthday is finally officially established just in time to give us a much-needed holiday in August.

FARMERS' DEMANDS FOR LOWER TARIFF MENACE TAX CUTS

Drive Is Started to Force
Action by Congress
This Year or Next.

EASIER IMMIGRATION
MEASURE IS SOUGHT

New Form of Revenue for Financing Sale of Crops Wanted.

Following is the first of a series of articles by William P. Helm, Jr., dealing with taxes, tariff and the farm "revolt." The second article will appear tomorrow.

By WILLIAM P. HELM, JR.
Out in the open spaces where corn waves shoulder high, a new theory of national economics is taking form—a theory which may knock into a cocked hat in time
the tried and tested policies of the present political administration at Washington, including tax reduction, high tariff and greatly restricted immigration. The farmer is in rebellion against things as they are. He is moving to place more directors on the nation's board. Four things he wants, each of which would affect not only himself but the entire population of the country.

Here they are, as given by Dr.
Thomas C. Atkeson, the presiding genius at Washington of the National Grange:

First—A moderate and careful revision of the immigration laws,
so that more of Europe's desirable emigrants may be admitted to the United States.

Second—A moderate and careful downward revision of the tariff
on all the farmer has to buy.

Third—A decided Federal movement in support of cooperative farm marketing.

Fourth—A new source of revenue for financing the sale of farm products through existing agencies,
especially the surplus or export-
able products.

Southern Aid Expected.
The farmer is registering his will for these four things as he votes in the July primaries. He is voting for men who understand what he wants and will try to get them. He expects to vote for that kind of candidate in the primaries
yet to come and in the general election next November.

If he can elect enough of his men in the West and middle West to make a formidable alliance with representatives in Congress from the South, a demonstration under the Capitol dome at Washington in favor of a lower tariff, a lowering somewhat of the immigration bars and Federal farm relief appear as inevitable as the coming of the dawn.

Such a demonstration would threaten the Coolidge policies of further tax reduction and an unchanged tariff.

If the farmer can sweep the sections of the country known as the

King Boris Eludes Switzerland Public

Geneva, Switzerland, July 18 (By bachelor monarch, who is believed to be in search of a wife, has left Lucerne for another part of Switzerland, but just where the Bulgarian legation at Berne professes not to know.

Two Passengers Killed When Plane Crashes

Hendersonville, N. C., July 18
(By A. P.).—Robert Blanc and Mack Colt, both of Hendersonville, died this afternoon at Patton Memorial hospital where they had been taken after plunging 400 feet in an airplane piloted by C. D. Colquhoun, of Atlanta. Colquhoun was seriously injured but is expected to recover.

Antievolution Bill In Manila Legislature

Manila, July 18 (By A. P.).—A bill has been introduced in the house of representatives of the Philippine legislature to prohibit the teaching of the theory of evolution in the public schools of the island. The measure was referred to committee.

Pastor, Accused of Murder, Preaches to Huge Crowd

Dr. Norris, Administers Communion and Is Greeted Afterward by Hundreds—"Faith Is Stronger Than Ever" Is Only Reference to Killing.

Fort Worth, Texas, July 18 (By
A. P.).—Charged with murder for the killing yesterday of D. E. Chipps, Fort Worth lumberman, the Rev. J. Frank Norris today preached his regular Sunday morning sermon in the First Baptist church,
from the text, "There is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus."

Standing within 50 feet of the church study where Chipps was killed when he called to protest against certain utterances of the widely known Baptist pastor, Dr.
Norris told one of the largest Sunday audiences he has ever commanded that his faith was stronger than ever.

The large First Baptist church auditorium, which seats 6,000, was filled to the doors with many standing and several hundred outside.
Before Dr. Norris started preaching a choir of 700 voices sang hymns
after hymn while two pianos with relays of pianists, furnished the music.

When Dr. Norris finished speaking several hundred of his congregation sauntered down to the front of the church to shake the preacher's hand as he stood before the platform. Many embraced him, and at this point Dr. Norris showed the only sign that the tragedy affected

him. He neither smiled nor nodded, but appeared to be on the verge of tears, and seemed unable to speak
because of emotion.

While this service was in progress, Chipps' friends prepared for the latter's funeral this afternoon.

According to the preacher's version of the shooting, given last night, Chipps called at Dr. Norris' study and threatened to kill him.
He demanded, according to the pastor's statement, that the latter de-stist from attacks on certain of Chipps' friends. Dr. Norris had launched an attack on Mayor H.
C. Meacham for the purchase by the city of land for the opening of a street. In his church publication,
the Searchlight, and in sermons,
Dr. Norris is said to have charged that the street opening was designed to benefit Meacham's own property.

Dr. Norris said he tried to induce Chipps to go, and he escorted the visitor to the door. The latter,

COOLIDGES AND SMITHS WORSHIP AT SARANAC

Governor, After Mass, Leaves
Before President Arrives
for Sermon.

DWIGHT DAVIS A VISITOR

Paul Smiths, N. Y., July 18 (By
A. P.).—A drive to Saranac Lake, 14 miles distant, to attend morning services at the First Presbyterian church, marked the second Sunday spent by the President and Mrs. Coolidge in the Adirondacks.

In the ride across the mountains to the church, where they worshipped last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs.
Coolidge were recognized by many of the natives who had gathered outside their little cottages to see as they passed. Their route through Saranac Lake was crowded with cars and people, and at the church
a throng had gathered unable to gain admittance to the small building, in which only the early comers had found seats.

President Coolidge, wearing a straw hat and blue suit with pencil stripe, and Mrs. Coolidge, who was

3 FORMER PREMIERS ARRESTED IN GREECE

Plot to Kill the President Is Charged; Venizelist Chiefs
Are Blamed.

Athens, Greece, July 18 (By A.
P.).—Former Premiers Kafandar-is, Papanastasiou, and Michalakopou-los have been arrested in connection with the discovery of a plot to overthrow the government and take the life of President Pangalos.
They are being transported to the Island of Naxos.

It was also announced that in addition to the three former premiers, who are described as "Democratic leaders," several other politicians and newspapermen have been arrested. All are charged with conspiring against the present regime.

President Pangalos himself, in a proclamation issued today, made the allegation that a conspiracy was developing to overthrow the government and take his life. He said there was evidence that Venizelist leaders had joined with Gen. Plastiras, who is supposed to have been behind the recent unsuccessful revolutionary movement, with a view to carrying out a new revolt.

Museum Gets Fish Caught by Coolidge

Paul Smiths, N. Y., July 18 (By
A. P.).—The three-pound pike which President Coolidge caught and presented to Gov. Alfred E.
Smith, is to be sent to the State museum in the Educational building at Albany, where it is to be mounted and placed on permanent exhibition.

Announcing his decision to have the fish kept instead of eaten, Gov.
Smith said today that he believed
Mr. Coolidge's gift should become the property of the State, inasmuch as it was caught by the President of the United States and was a "fine example of Adirondack wall-eyed pike."

PARIS UNREST SEEN AS HERRIOT STARTS TO FORM MINISTRY

Guards at Elysee Palace
and Around Chamber
Are Increased.

NATIONALISTS OPPOSE
UNION CABINET PLAN

Marin, Credited With Fall of Briand, Refuses to Assist Herriot.

Paris, July 18 (By A. P.).—M.
Herriot, the radical leader and president of the chamber of deputies, today accepted the task of forming a new ministry, at the request of President Doumergue, and solving the seventh cabinet
crisis which has occurred in France since he first took power a little more than two years ago.

Financial problems, which were responsible for the downfall of all these governments, reducing the average life of a ministry from nine months to something more than three, have progressively increased the difficulties until cabinet-making now is generally considered to be a job for a superman.

M. Herriot, however, apparently is confident, and his first consultations indicated that he would try to form a national union ministry
in which all parties will be represented except the communists, socialists and royalists. The general feeling is in favor of such a combination, as it was before the formation of M. Briand's tenth cabinet, but there is some question among certain groups of the chamber as to whether M. Herriot is the man to preside over it. There is doubt if such a cabinet could agree on M.
Herriot's program.

Two Reasons for Fall.

The Briand-Caillaux cabinet, it is pointed out, fell not only on the question of "full powers" demanded of parliament, but on the policy of borrowing more money abroad.
The solution of the treasury's difficulties regarding the stabilization of the franc is admitted to lie between foreign loans and a capital levy. Most of the leaders of the moderate groups with whom M.
Herriot had been consulting have been uncompromisingly against a capital levy.

The new government's policy
consequently is regarded as a seri-

PROTESTING PARKING, FARMER SHOT DEAD

Students Return After Taking Girl Home; Row Follows;
Eight Are Accused.

Special to The Washington Post.
Des Moines, Iowa, July 18.—The shooting of Samuel Hurd, 46, a farmer, of near Keokuk, who was killed last night, has resulted in charges against Joy Groat, university student and former all State high school football star, and seven other young men of Keokuk.

Groat told officers that when he and a young woman parked their car near the Hurd farm the farmer demanded $5. The youth said he took the girl home and then with seven young men returned to the Hurd place.

Several of the young men said
the shooting was the result of the accidental discharge of a shotgun while a youth was scuffling with the farmer for possession of it. Members of Hurd's family say one of the young men snatched the gun
from the farmer and shot him.

Thief Seizes $20,000 While Man Counts It

Berlin, July 18 (By A. P.).—Two affable strangers with whom H.
Director, of Los Angeles, Calif., struck up an acquaintance here, robbed him of $20,000 marks (approximately $20,000).

Director was counting a bundle of 1,000-mark notes in a crowded cafe, when one of the men, going under the name of O'Brien, seized
the money and made a hasty exit.
The other disappeared immediately.
The man who is alleged to have engineered the coup represented himself to Mr. Director as Frank Wallace, of Pasadena. He resided at the hotel where Director had taken rooms, and in the latter's company
he went to a safe where O'Brien awaited them. Some deal was to be discussed.

BORAH SEES DRIVE ABROAD AND IN U.S. ON CONSTITUTIONS

Fascism, Sovietism and American Wets All Are
From Same Kennel.

SAYS VOLSTEAD FOES
WANT NULLIFICATION

Government Not of Men, but
of Law, He Adds, Calling Repeal Only Legal Way.

Augusta, Ga., July 18 (By the Associated Press).—A warning that constitutional government is faced by an almost worldwide attack was given here today by Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, who said its enemy in this country was openly preaching nullification of the prohibition amendment.

"Bolshevism in Russia, fascism in Italy, military dictatorship in Poland and nullification in the United States," he asserted, "are all from the same kennel, barking at the same thing—constitutional government."

Speaking under auspices of the Protestant Ministers association,
the Idaho senator said that referendums on the prohibition question,
such as that to be held in New York State, were "for the purpose of undermining and destroying the Constitution through nullification," and there "has never been a time when men should stand so firm in defense of law and order."

Sees Liquor Demand.

"When the debate on the liquor
problem opened a few months ago,
the question did not seem particularly important," he asserted. "The controversy had not proceeded far,
however, until the most important issue that a self-governing people can ever be called upon to consider forced its way to the front."

"Instead of a modification of the Volstead act, we now have the nullification of the Constitution. Instead of nonintoxicating liquor within the Constitution, the demand is now for intoxicating liquor
in defiance of the Constitution."

"The same leaders who asked in the beginning for modification within the Constitution, now declare that they will have intoxicating liquor, Constitution or no Constitution, Volstead act or no Volstead act. This is the issue that we now have to meet."

Nullification Impossible.

"It may be that it is within the power of the liquor interests to amend the Constitution, a thing which it is well within their rights to undertake and within possibilities to achieve. But I take the privilege of asserting and without fear of the future that it is not within the power of the liquor interests to nullify the Constitution."

"If the eighteenth amendment was an injudicious distribution of power between the State and national governments, the people can take it out of the Constitution by

Bomb is Exploded in Jail To Free Chicago Prisoners

Great Hole Torn in Granite and Brick, but Guards,

criminals, several of whom are un-

tiers of cells were twisted badly.

6 ARE DEAD IN STORMS; HEAVY DAMAGE WROUGHT

Springfield, Mass., Struck by

Coney Crowds.

NEW YORK TRAFFIC HIT

Springfield, Mass., July 18 (By
A. P.).—A rain, hail and lightning storm of cyclonic velocity which struck western Massachusetts late today claimed four lives, injured more than a score and left in its wake damage which will mount to $500,000. In Adams a girl was instantly killed; in Springfield two men were drowned and a man died
beneath a falling tree.

The dead are:
Marie Angie Dubois, 19, Adams, killed by lightning.
Soturno Mantani, Springfield,
killed by falling tree.

George Guillotte, West Springfield, drowned.
Joseph Trudeau, Springfield,
drowned.

The storm generated high in the Berkshires where lightning struck in many places, and rushed eastward, doing its heaviest damage
in this city and West Springfield.
In the latter town the roof was torn from a large dance hall, a boathouse was flung into midstream and numerous trees and small buildings ripped from the ground.

In Springfield the 20-foot steeple
of the Asbury Methodist church crashed to the ground, the roofs
were ripped from several apartment houses, billboards and trees were swept flat and tops blown from automobiles. Trolley service was de-

Fear Spread in Maine By Exploding Meteor

Portland Maine, July 18 (By A.

Hutchins, of Bowdoin, believes to have been the bursting of a meteor, awakened thousands of persons in Maine at 4:08 o'clock this morning.

This city, Dexter, 130 miles north, and Saco, 15 miles south, are among the places reporting the phenomenon. The crash was pre-number reported. The fact that there was no electric storm at the time added to the alarm of many.

POLICE ARREST 45 IN WEEK-END RAIDS; TAKE MUCH LIQUOR

Still Is Seized at Plant Alleged to Be Making Peach Brandy.

SOCIAL CLUB INVADIED AS ALLOWING GAMBLING

Upper Fourteenth Street Is Blocked by Crowds Seeing Police Break In Doors.

A busy week-end, which terminated early yesterday, was experienced by Capt. Guy E. Burlingame, and his flying squadron. In a series of raids, the police arrested 45 persons, and seized approximately 100 gallons of alleged whiskeys, 10 cases of alleged home-brewed beer, approximately 1,000 gallons of mash and a still of 100-gallon capacity.

The still was seized when the raiders invaded 617 Four-and-a-half street southwest, where they say a plant for the manufacture of peach brandy was in operation. Mrs. Esther Kaiser, whom police arrested two weeks ago for a similar alleged offense, and Abraham Schoen, were taken on charges of manufacturing and possessing liquor.

The headquarters of the West Washington social club, a colored organization, 1839 Fourteenth street northwest, were invaded. Twenty-seven negroes, alleged to have been participants in dice games, were taken to the Eighth precinct as witnesses and later released. Joseph Washington, colored, who is said to have taken responsibility for the place, was charged with permitting gaming and illegal possession of liquor. While police were breaking in two doors, the occupants were destroying evidence, they said. Large crowds witnessed the raids and blocked traffic for almost half an hour.

"Brewery" Is Discovered.

An alleged miniature brewery was uncovered in a supposed vacant house at 1040 Jefferson street northwest. A large quantity of alleged beer and mash and eleven men were taken, together with paraphernalia for the manufacture of beer. When none would assume responsibility for the plant, all were

"Old Glory's" Birthday Put at August 2, 1777

The birthday of the Stars and Stripes has been ascertained by War Department historians at the request of historical societies. The flag flew for the first time over Fort Stanwix, N. Y., August 2, 1777.

The necessity for making the flag when the enemy invaded the garrison was found described in a volume, "A Narrative of the Military Actions of Col. Marinus Willett," who was a member of the fort. It reads: "The fort had never been supplied with a flag. The necessity of having one had, upon the arrival of the enemy, taxed the invention of the garrison a little, and a decent one was soon contrived."

"The white stripes were cut out of ammunition shirts; the blue out of the camlet cloak taken from the enemy at Peekskill, while the red stripes were made of different pieces of stuff procured from one and another of the garrisons."

taken to the Seventh precinct and charged with violating the prohibition act.

They were William Hurley, 3628 O street northwest; Victor Fricke and Ware Langrell, 626 Morris street northeast; Samuel Rye, 4525 Wisconsin avenue northwest; Fred Thomas, 234 E street northeast; George Thompson, Lyon Park, Va.; Ellis Owens, 3122 M street northwest; Michael Linskey, 2816 N street northwest; and William Guttschow, Carl Kave and Homer Walker, of Fort Myer, Va.

Others taken were Angus Roberts, colored, 1204 Four-and-a-half street southwest; Mary Cooper, 618 L street northwest; Ethel Hutchinson and Clara Maxwell, 1239 Ninth street northwest.

Detective Saves Mate From Knife

Headquarters Detective Steve Brodie was saved from possible serious injury early yesterday when, according to police reports, his partner, Detective Sergeant Frank Varney grasped the hand of John Hatch Mitchell, colored, 49 years old, 621 Rhode Island avenue northwest, as he held a large knife poised over Brodie's head on Seventh street near M street northwest. Mitchell was arrested and charged with assault with a dangerous weapon.

The detectives had been searching colored neerbar saloons on upper Seventh street yesterday for a colored man wanted for robbery. Brodie ejected Mitchell from one of the saloons when he is alleged to have become boisterous. As Brodie circled among the long crowd which gathered after the ejection, ordering them to disperse, Mitchell is said to have approached with the knife.

Purging of Western Butter Trade Sought

(By the Associated Press.)

Elimination by mutual consent of unfair practices which may now prevail in the butter, egg, cheese and poultry industries west of the Rocky mountains will be sought at a conference which will open in San Francisco, August 2, under auspices of the Federal Trade Commission. Commissioner Houston Thompson will preside, assisted by M. M. Flannery, director of the commission's new trade practice conference division.

"An experts in their line, men actually engaged in these industries are asked to define for the commission such practices as they consider unfair, and to assist in the formation of a code of business conduct. It is intended to eliminate simultaneously on a given date methods which the industry itself recognizes as bad," the commission's announcement said.

Women's Clubs Urged To Keep Independent

Dr. H. H. Jones, of Wheeling, W. Va., was the principal speaker at the Women's National Political Study club forum yesterday in the Phyllis Wheatley Young Women's Christian association. He discussed "The Approach to Political Problems," in ward, municipal and State governments.

He urged that women keep their political organizations independent so that they might be free to vote in interest of the masses. The meeting was addressed also by Karl Phillips, commissioner of conciliation of the Department of Labor, and Mrs. Helen Bell Cardozo, member of the Maryland State central committee. Miss Jeanette Carter presided.

Policeman Employs Baton to Arrest Man

Policeman L. G. Miller, of the Second precinct, was forced to use his baton, he reported, in arresting John Page, colored, 40 years old, 1304 Fourth street northwest. The negro is alleged to have assaulted the policeman.

Page, police say, was disorderly in the street near his home, and Miller was sent upon receipt of the complaint. Page was treated at Freedmen's hospital for a slight cut on the head before being taken to the Second station and charged with intoxication, disorderly conduct and assaulting a policeman.

Woman Hurt in Push From Car.

Mrs. Alberta Musher, 27 years old, 1017 Florida avenue northeast, received bruises on the hips when pushed from an automobile by her husband, following an argument in a garage in the rear of 912 Twelfth street northeast, according to police. Mrs. Musher was taken to Casualty hospital by Lieut. Sidney Marks, of the Ninth precinct, for treatment.

DR. NORWOOD SPEAKS ON REEMPHASIZING HEREAFTER OF MAN

Church, He Says, Has Lost Interest and Even Confidence in "Other World."

LONDON PREACHER BEGINS LONG TOUR

For Nine Months Will Travel to Arouse People in a World Peace.

A reemphasis upon the immortality of man is needed for the sake of world peace, industrial justice and other social ideals, the Rev. Frederick W. Norwood, of London, Eng., declared in his sermon yesterday morning, preaching at the service of the First Congregational church held in the Washington auditorium.

"The modern church in emphasizing the essential importance of righteousness in 'this world' has largely lost interest and sometimes even confidence in the 'other world,'" the pastor asserted.

"The church's vision of the world beyond," Dr. Norwood continued, "has been foreshadowed while her sphere of activity has been immeasurably widened so far as this world is concerned."

"Believers do not speak so earnestly or so confidently of the realm beyond the veil, but with greater emphasis and demand of the manifold imperfections of our terrestrial life."

Will Speak on Peace.

Dr. Norwood yesterday began a nine months speaking campaign to arouse the "ordinary man to the need and possibility of world peace. He will speak in the United States and Canada for three months and will then return to England to fill speaking engagements lasting six weeks.

Dr. Norwood will resume his charge of the City Temple, London, where he is pastor, in April.

Following his sermon on "The World Beyond the Veil," he will give the auditorium last night, the photoplay "The Pilgrims" of the Yale historical series was shown. The visiting pastor will preach at the New York Avenue Presbyterian church tonight and tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

TAXI DRIVER IS HELD IN SHOOTING OF MAN

Robert Sledge Probably Fatally Injured; Another Cabman Arrested.

Aubrey B. Bickler, 24 years old, a taxi driver, 1402 Fifteenth street northwest, is confined to a cell at the Eighth precinct under a technical charge of investigation, in connection with the shooting and probably fatal wounding of Robert Sledge, colored, 18 years old, 924 Westminister street northwest. The shooting was the result of a quest for liquor, police report.

Although identified by seven witnesses of the shooting, police state, Bickler maintains that he did not shoot the negro.

Sledge is in a critical condition in Freedmen's hospital, and little hope is held for his recovery. He was walking in Barry place with Richard Bundy, also colored, 2228 Seventeenth street northwest, according to police, when approached by two white men, who asked where they could obtain liquor. A fight ensued, and when the two negroes began running Sledge was shot.

Late Detective Dick Mansfield, of the central office, and Jacob Wolfe, police chauffeur, took into custody Bickler and Herbert F. Kolley, 25 years old, also a cab driver, 518 H street northwest, at their place of employment, 1140 Twenty-first street northwest. Kolley is held at the Third precinct station.

Man Badly Burned As Machine Explodes

When the fire door of a steam-pressing machine in the cleaning establishment of Rubenstein & Co., 1220 Twenty-third street northwest, exploded from compression yesterday, Clarence Berger, 30 years old, of Falls Church, Va., was severely burned.

Berger was taken to Emergency hospital in a police patrol and treated for burns to the legs, arms and body.

Claude Brent, 68, Missing.

Police were asked last night to search for Claude Brent, 63 years old, 1235 Eighth street northwest, who disappeared from his home Saturday and has not been seen since. When last seen Brent was wearing light trousers, a striped shirt and straw hat. He is 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 130 pounds, police were told.

Woman Takes Poison in Error.

Mrs. Marie H. Brown, 21 years old, 2008 F street northwest, was treated at Emergency hospital yesterday for poison, said to have been taken accidentally. The patrol of the Third precinct took her to the hospital. After treatment she was dismissed.

Steamer Trunk Stolen.

A bulky steamer trunk was stolen from the apartment of Walter C. Ellis, 621 Rhode Island avenue northwest, police were told yesterday. The trunk contained clothing, valued at approximately $200. A suspect was named.

BORAH SEES CONSTITUTIONS HERE AND ABROAD ATTACKED

the same process they wrote it in. If a mistake was made, the people can be shown that it was a mistake, and they are wise enough and brave enough to take it out.

"If, on the other hand, after reconsideration and further reflection, the people conclude it was not a mistake, then under proper and sincere leadership the people will live up to it."

"There is no possible excuse to involve the Constitution. There is no law, there is no provision of the Constitution which may not be rewritten or wholly expunged. To preach nullification is to preach lawlessness—ancient and persistent enemy of all republics."

Cites Alleged Argument.

"What are the arguments against following the procedure of amending the Constitution? They are familiar arguments. They are the practices which are making a hell of Europe today. First is that it will take too long, and that the method is tedious and cumbersome. It is said the eighteenth amendment is against conscience, oppressive, therefore disregarded."

"This is the precise argument which nullified contracts and the law of property in Russia. We are told the people are fanatics or wanting in judgment, and that they may not repeal the amendment—that is the basis of military rule in Poland."

"Certainly, forms prescribed by the Constitution will have to be observed, for this is a government of law and not of men. It may take some time to accomplish the repeal. But it will take far less time to amend in the manner pointed out by the Constitution than it will take to convince the American people that nullification is a sound principle of government. I venture to say there could be no greater exhibition of self-abasement, of national degradation, than for this great people to leave the eighteenth amendment in the Constitution, and as some have said, forget it and live in daily disregard of it."

Attacks New York.

"If adversaries of the amendment would submit a referendum in their respective States for repeal of it, they would be pursuing a course, not subject to criticism, an orderly, dignified course. But their referendum in the form submitted are for the purpose of undermining and destroying the Constitution through nullification."

"This is the exact meaning of the proposed referendum in the State of New York, to be followed, we are told, by similar referendums in other States. The people are being asked to express themselves in favor of amending the Constitution, but in favor of the States respectively construing and enforcing the Constitution."

"The State of New York long ago repealed its statute for the enforcement of the amendment, declaring thereby it would not, as a State, assist in enforcing it. Having repealed its State law for enforcement, it now asks that it be permitted to enforce it and of all national government consent to all this program."

"Spirit of Anarchy."

"Nullification is not revolution. It has none of the open, many qualities of revolution. Nullification is the sly, silent, cowardly supplanting of the very foundation of all order, all government, the evasive betrayal of a nation, and the spirit and motive of anarchy, without either its courage or its faith."

"There has never been the moral force and determination which is necessary to enforcement," Senator Borah declared, asserting that the only way to take the prohibition issue out of politics was to make it plain that the Constitution will be enforced.

"If neither of our political parties will take a definite stand," he said, "then let the people organize another party which will be loyal to the Constitution of the United States."

Upshaw Says Colleagues
Play Poker; Go to Devil

Atlanta, Ga., July 18 (By A. P.). Assailing the interests in Washington and asserting that it was his privilege to spend his extra time fighting liquor and other "devilment," Representative William D. Upshaw spoke three times yesterday in launching his formal campaign for reelection to Congress from the Fifth Georgia district.

"Let us get this clear," said Upshaw, "the government has no control of my time on Sunday or at night after my day's work is done, and if I want to use this extra time fighting liquor and other devilment and then give every dollar to some form of benevolence, as I do, I would be better using my time that way than playing poker and going to the devil generally like some congressmen have done and are doing in Washington."

Mr. Upshaw said friends of his opponents were spreading a story about a refund check from the Pullman company which was made out to W. J. Upshaw. "Here are the conditions," he said, "I have the paltry sum of $9 came to my office addressed to Hon. W. J. Upshaw without explanation. Occasionally I have received letters addressed 'Hon. Upshaw' and sometimes 'Upshaw' and 'Upshaw.' Having failed to get a refund from a Pullman ticket with the record lost and the date forgotten, naturally I thought the check was intended for me."

"When I heard from the Pullman company a few weeks later I promptly sent them a check for $9. That's all there is to it."

Borah Asserts the South
Is Coming Into Its Own

Augusta, Ga., July 18 (By A. P.). Senator William E. Borah, Idaho, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, today declared that the South was "coming into her own," and said that the financial distress in various sections of the South was only temporary.

"North, East, South and West," the senator said, "and within the next few years the South will have the most remarkable industrial growth of any section of the United States. You are just now beginning to realize the remarkable natural resources to which you are heir, and you are making rapid strides in their development."

Asked as to his views on a union of the South and West on agricultural problems, Senator Borah voiced the opinion that all sections "North, East, South and West should cooperate in reaching a solution of such problems."

Senator Borah will return to Washington Monday. In October, he said, he will fill several speaking engagements in the South, and has Dallas, New Orleans and Memphis on his itinerary. Replying to a vacation query, Senator Borah said, "I am not on vacation—the only kind I take."

FARMERS' DEMANDS FOR AID
SAID TO IMPERIL TAX CUTS

wheat and corn belts, tariff revision will take its place as one of the probable changes within the next eighteen months.

If the farmer can not dominate the politics and candidates of those sections, tariff revision will wait until another day and further tax reduction will naturally take its normal course.

Concentrate on Tariff.

There can not be marked downward revision of the tariff and further lowering of the income tax rate at the same time, Treasury figures clearly indicate. Treasury now is clearly indicating $600,000,000 a year into the Federal Treasury. If that sum is materially reduced, further income tax reduction will have to wait.

All the four outstanding features of the farmer's program, tariff reduction looms largest. According to his spokesmen, he is for tariff reduction on what the other fellow has to sell. For himself, he wants a higher tariff wall, according to the views of those spokesmen—a wall that will protect his products to even greater degree against foreign competition in the United States. He feels now that he is buying all he buys in a closed market and selling what he produces in an open market, set by world prices.

With this thought in mind, the farmer appears to be all set for a forthcoming fight to reduce the tariff on iron, steel, manufactured commodities and all the other things that he has to purchase.

Whether the fight will take place at the next session of Congress, which meets in December and expires by limitation on the fourth day of March, or whether the fight will be deferred until the new Congress convenes in December of next year will depend somewhat on the result of the forthcoming election.

Present Congress Against Change.

If the farmer wins a sweeping victory, the chances are that a demonstration for tariff reduction will be staged in Washington next December. If so, it probably will not carry through, for the present Congress apparently is thoroughly committed to the present tariff rates and the present Congress will be in power at the next session. However, a big farm victory next November undoubtedly would make a great impression on the present holdover Congress and probably would result in a thorough airing of the tariff at the next session.

The farmer's move for tariff revision is being made, according to all indications, through the Republican party in the corn and wheat belt. It is being made in opposition to the desire of the President politically and violently in opposition to the Coolidge economic policy. That policy looks to further tax reduction which apparently would be indirectly opposed if the tariff should be cut in accordance with agricultural desires. Aside from the merits of the present tariff policy, the administration feels that the Treasury needs the revenue which the present act produces. If it is deprived of that revenue in substantial part, taxes must take its place.

Hence the equation simmers down to a question of reduction and no further income tax reduction for a time; or maintenance of the present tariff schedules and a prospective income tax cut within the next six months. One or the other—not both.

Switches Among Democrats.

In its fight for tariff reduction, the farm vote looks for substantial help from the Democrats. They are ready to join now, most of the Democrats in the present Congress, in a move to lower tariff rates on certain commodities. Given the support which the farmer hopes to be able to give them by electing low-tariff Republicans, they will constitute a possible majority of the next House of Representatives, where tariff revision must originate.

Among the Democrats, however, there has recently been a considerable change of heart here and there with respect to the tariff. The new South is turning industrial and with the turn is inclining more to the high tariff theory. Some of the agricultural sections of the South as well—notably the sugar-producing areas—are strong for a high tariff on what it produces. Hence, low tariff advocates do not make the whole of the Southern representation.

A farm leader, known throughout the country, was asked if it was his intention on revising the tariff and if so, when. The reply was illuminating:

"They certainly are and they expect to undertake revision just as soon as their strength in Congress is such as to promise them a chance of success. It may be at the next session, but my guess is that it won't be until 1927."

WILLAMSON MARE RETAINS HER TITLE IN HURDLE CONTEST

Becky Sharp Scores 99 in Winning Rock Creek Hunt Club Event.

MARY BONNINGTON TAKES BLUE RIBBON

Serial Riding Events Will Be Resumed Second Sunday of September.

The serial hurdle contest of the Rock Creek Hunt club closed for the summer yesterday with Capt. Royden Williamson, owner of Becky Sharp, retaining the title of cup defender won by Becky Sharp in the preceding contest.

The score of 99 made by the mare in winning the title was threatened, however, by two other horses in a tie for first place with Capt. Williamson's entry, which was ridden by himself. The three horses made two faults each, a score of 99.

In the jump-off, Mary Bonnington, owned by E. J. Lynch and ridden by Robert L. Robey, equaled Becky Sharp's title score with only one fault, and won the blue ribbon for the day. However, the jump-off never affects the title. That must be decided in the regular contest.

Virginia in Tie.

Virginia, owned by Miss Madeline Allshire and ridden by Robert L. Robey, was the other horse in the tie for first place. In the jump-off Virginia made four faults, and Becky Sharp in the jump-off made nine faults, the result of her losing her stride between one of the jumps and striking it in going over.

The contest will be resumed the second Sunday in September. The final winner of the cup will be decided in the National Capital horse show next May. The temporary winners during the year are decided in these contests.

Mrs. George P. Plummer presented the prizes. The judges were Fred C. Lloyd, Roland H. Dawson, and Quinton L. Comer. About 230 persons were present.

Investigation of Assassination
Is Under Way With Only Few Promising Clues.

Special to The Washington Post.

Canton, Ohio, July 18.—At 10:30 p. m. last Sunday, a week ago tonight, the telephone bell rang in the home of Don R. Mellett, slain crusader-publisher of the Canton Daily News. Mellett himself answered. It was another warning.

"Look out, Mellett," said the voice. "There are three men waiting for you in the shadow of your garage, and they're out to kill you."

"Who are you?" Mellett asked, and after a moment came the reply, "I am an enemy of your enemies."

Owner of Voice Is Sought.

That conversation today is the only definite clue to the assassination of the young editor early last Friday morning and the owner of the warning voice tonight is the object of a search by scores of detectives and investigators under the direction of Ora C. Slater, superintendent of Cincinnati, who solves mysterious crimes with pure psychology and some employment of gray matter.

Mellett was killed exactly where that voice warned him his enemies were lying in wait for him—at his garage door. He was shot through the head from behind a rose bush behind the garage.

Search for Slayer.

Still it was certain that the search for the telephone was on and while it was being conducted there was action in the churches here today. There were numbers of persons who were the subject of the killing and its cold-blooded wantonness. The ministers called on all the authorities to do their utmost to clean up Canton and to solve the murders and the officers of all the churches were busy circulating a petition to Gov. A. V. Donahey, calling upon the governor to make "a secret investigation of his own, entirely apart from any other inquiry that may be carried on."

Chief of Police S. A. Lengel also has been working up a list of names which have appeared in many of the newspaper circulating in Canton, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, New York, Chicago, Columbus, Cincinnati and others.

Not Afraid to Sue, He Says.

"Some of these articles actually accuse me of being behind the plot to kill Mellett," the chief said. "Well, God knows he attacked me enough unjustly. But the papers better watch out. I have a $50,000 libel suit against the paper that."

Andrews, Dry Chief, Uses Largest Pitcher in Hotel

London, July 18 (By A. P.).

The largest cut glass pitcher at the Ritz has become known as "the general" since doing duty day and night filled with ice water in the suites occupied by

Brig. Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of the prohibition enforcement service of the United States.

The Ritz and most other hotels in London patronized by Americans serve ice water in their restaurants, but they lack arrangements for bellboys to carry the tinkling pitchers to the rooms.

Gen. Andrews reached London in one of the hottest spells in several years, so that when he requested a constant supply of ice water the head waiter was appalled to find and he unearthed the largest cut glass pitcher of its kind in the hotel. This pitcher has sometimes been used at state functions, but ordinarily it is in retirement.

Mellett edited and I am not afraid to sue some others."

The chief said he did not believe Mellett sincere in his crusading. "He did it," he said, "simply from one ambition, to be the political dictator of this town. He fought any one who would not fall in line. He fought me because I wouldn't do as he demanded. He fought the so-called tenderloin because he couldn't control the big vote—a vote which holds the balance of power down there."

Rumor persists that certain forces are at work toward the ousting of the chief. It is said that some action toward removing him may follow the big meeting of all the heads of civic, labor and other organizations to be held at the best of the chamber of commerce tomorrow morning.

Split Within the Order.

Mr. Shoup proved one of the most popular governors Colorado has had and he developed a large following among the Democrats. In 1924 the clan elected practically every State officer by about 150,000. The State house was clan, the senate anti-clan and the session was one prolonged row. As fast as the house passed a clan bill the senate would knock it off.

Last July a split developed within the masked order. Dr. John Galen Locke, grand dragon of Colorado, was deposed by Imperial Wizard Evans, now of Washington. Dr. Locke then organized the "Minute Men of America." A uniform similar to that of the colonial militia was adopted and a large part of the klanmen threw away their night shirts and pillow cases and followed Dr. Locke into the new organization.

Both Parties May Name Shoup.

Under the State primary law party State assemblies designate candidates for the ballot. The Republicans meet August 6 and the Democrats August 12 and there is an urge to get Shoup the nomination from both parties at the primaries September 14.

There is precedent for this. In 1916 Chief Justice George W. Allen of the Supreme Court was on both tickets.

Carl S. Milliken, secretary of State, who abandoned the clan, is running against Shoup for the Republican nomination. One open question is whether the Minute Men will stand. They are out to get Senator Rice W. Means if possible. In 1924 he was elected for the short term by clan aid to succeed Alva D. Adams, Democrat. When the split in the clan came, Senator Means was rated as one of the men responsible for the removal of Dr. Locke as grand dragon. He is now running for the full term and is generally expected to win over Carl C. Schuyler, a Denver attorney, and Charles W. Waterman, the Coolidge prevention manager in Colorado, who are opposing him for the Republican nomination.

Three Democrats in Race.

On the Democratic side three candidates are after the senatorship. They are former Gov. William E. Sweet, a millionaire who is strong with the "parlor Socialists" and the "Greenwich Village pinkies"; Paul P. Prosser, an attorney and Frank Hayes, former president of the United Mine Workers of America.

The regular Democrats, it appears, want to beat Sweet and nominate a candidate acceptable to the anti-klan Republicans if Means should be the Republican nominee. The gossip is that the Democratic assembly, when it meets August 12, will try to pull off Prosser and put on former Senator Alva Adams, who took an active part in the Teapot Dome investigation. If this idea should prevail, the politicians argue, there is a chance that in November Colorado may elect a Republican governor and Democratic senator by a combination of Republican and Democratic anti-klan votes.

To offset this some scouts have been coming in with reports that in the last few weeks the clan has had a sudden accession of strength. On the matter of prohibition, Colorado went dry back in 1916. A referendum is to be taken through the efforts of Spencer Penrose, of Colorado Springs, brother of the late Pennsylvania senator; it would provide that if Washington did anything on modification Colorado would get full benefit; if 2.75 beer should get through, Colorado would share in the liberalization.

COLORADO PARTIES MAY FORGET LINES TO FIGHT THE KLAN

Republicans and Democrats
Both Urged to Support
Shoup for Governor.

REGULARS FIGHT SWEET
FOR U. S. SENATORSHIP

Sudden Accession of Strength for the Hooded Order, However, Has Been Reported.

By ARTHUR EVANS.

Denver, Colo., July 18.—Colorado politics is something of a mess this summer, with prospects that in the fall campaign party lines may be wiped out and the Rocky mountain electorate go hitherly to the mat on the chief issue of Ku Klux Klan and anti-klan.

Great strife has arisen within the clan which two years ago managed to permeate the Republican party of the State, and in the face of the row, farm relief, world court, Volsteadism and other issues paraded in other States, have dived off the deep end. There is a growing possibility that the rumpus over the clan may mean the loss of a Republican senator, Rice W. Means, who was elected with clan support in 1924.

To get a running start at the situation, the observers here go back to 1918 when O. H. Shoup, of Colorado Springs, was elected Republican governor by less than 10,000 and two years later was reelected by 72,000 in the year of the Harding landslide.

Split Within the Order.

Mr. Shoup proved one of the most popular governors Colorado has had and he developed a large following among the Democrats. In 1924 the clan elected practically every State officer by about 150,000. The State house was clan, the senate anti-clan and the session was one prolonged row. As fast as the house passed a clan bill the senate would knock it off.

Last July a split developed within the masked order. Dr. John Galen Locke, grand dragon of Colorado, was deposed by Imperial Wizard Evans, now of Washington. Dr. Locke then organized the "Minute Men of America." A uniform similar to that of the colonial militia was adopted and a large part of the klanmen threw away their night shirts and pillow cases and followed Dr. Locke into the new organization.

Both Parties May Name Shoup.

Under the State primary law party State assemblies designate candidates for the ballot. The Republicans meet August 6 and the Democrats August 12 and there is an urge to get Shoup the nomination from both parties at the primaries September 14.

There is precedent for this. In 1916 Chief Justice George W. Allen of the Supreme Court was on both tickets.

Carl S. Milliken, secretary of State, who abandoned the clan, is running against Shoup for the Republican nomination. One open question is whether the Minute Men will stand. They are out to get Senator Rice W. Means if possible. In 1924 he was elected for the short term by clan aid to succeed Alva D. Adams, Democrat. When the split in the clan came, Senator Means was rated as one of the men responsible for the removal of Dr. Locke as grand dragon. He is now running for the full term and is generally expected to win over Carl C. Schuyler, a Denver attorney, and Charles W. Waterman, the Coolidge prevention manager in Colorado, who are opposing him for the Republican nomination.

Three Democrats in Race.

On the Democratic side three candidates are after the senatorship. They are former Gov. William E. Sweet, a millionaire who is strong with the "parlor Socialists" and the "Greenwich Village pinkies"; Paul P. Prosser, an attorney and Frank Hayes, former president of the United Mine Workers of America.

The regular Democrats, it appears, want to beat Sweet and nominate a candidate acceptable to the anti-klan Republicans if Means should be the Republican nominee. The gossip is that the Democratic assembly, when it meets August 12, will try to pull off Prosser and put on former Senator Alva Adams, who took an active part in the Teapot Dome investigation. If this idea should prevail, the politicians argue, there is a chance that in November Colorado may elect a Republican governor and Democratic senator by a combination of Republican and Democratic anti-klan votes.

To offset this some scouts have been coming in with reports that in the last few weeks the clan has had a sudden accession of strength. On the matter of prohibition, Colorado went dry back in 1916. A referendum is to be taken through the efforts of Spencer Penrose, of Colorado Springs, brother of the late Pennsylvania senator; it would provide that if Washington did anything on modification Colorado would get full benefit; if 2.75 beer should get through, Colorado would share in the liberalization.

Fever and Death Trail U. S. Board Ship's Crew

Boston, Mass., July 18 (By A. P.).

Six months of fever, death and general bad luck trailed the Shipping Board's steamer West Khar to this port, where she docked today from Africa. Am- bulances met the ship to take four members of the crew, stricken with African fever, to the marine hospital. Most of the other 34 men aboard were ill or recovering from the disease.

The fever struck the ship after swarms of mosquitoes settled over her on the African west coast. Hardly a man escaped, and at times only half a dozen were able to perform their work and stand watches.

While loading mahogany logs, some weighing nine tons, the death rate from accidents among the native longshoremen averaged one a day. On the return trip, marine growth on the ship's hull reduced her speed to eight knots.

New Organization Are to

19 NATIONS BACK PLAN

New York, July 18 (By A. P.).—Organization of a world-wide association of scholars to advance the aims of history was announced today by the American Historical association. Provisional headquarters of the new association will be established in Washington, and the secretariat will function through the Institute of Intellectual Cooperation in Paris.

A permanent international committee of historical sciences, with Prof. M. Kohrt, of the University of Oslo, Norway, as president, has been formed, and arrangements made for an international congress of historians at Oslo in 1928.

Learned societies of nineteen nations, including Germany, Russia, and Austria, as well as the principal learned countries are backing the committee. Contacts disrupted in 1914 by the world war will be resumed and international congresses held every five years.

The formation of the international committee is the result of a movement started in 1923 by the American delegates to a conference of historians in Brussels. The Laura Spelman Rockefeller memorial has contributed $25,000 to the committee for its work, and means by which it may be permanently financed are being considered by its treasurer, Valdo G. Lealand, executive secretary of the American Council of Learned Societies.

ous complication in the formation of a national union cabinet by the president of the chamber. Political experts are widely divergent in their predictions, some of them looking for failure on the part of M. Herriot to find one and a program that will go together. Also, there is talk of a Poincare cabinet, in which Herriot, Painleve and Tardieu would have important portfolios.

The first indication of hostility to M. Herriot as head of a national union ministry came from the national bloc. Louis Marin, the leader of this group, who was more instrumental than Herriot in overthrowing Premier Briand, said a majority of this group voted against Briand while only a minority of the radicals followed Herriot, declared tonight that his friends would not accept M. Herriot as premier.

M. Herriot's group, the republican union, built on the remains of the old national bloc, is second in size in the chamber, numbering 104, as compared with 134 radicals. Its support is regarded as absolutely essential to enable a union cabinet to live.

M. Herriot has the alternative possibility of rebuilding the old coalition of the left, but in that case, it is argued, he will be obliged to adopt the social program, with a very slight chance of getting it through the senate.

The public, which for two years has watched the passing show of ministerial combinations with passive indifference, has begun to show signs of impatience. The police held close guard over the Rue du Faubourg-Saint-Honore, in front of the Elysee palace, today in consequence of a manifestation last evening hostile to M. Herriot.

134 CATHOLIC SCHOOLS REPORTED TO BE SOLD

Institutions Not to Be Closed by Mexico Because of Ownership Change.

AGREEMENT IS REACHED

Mexico City, July 18 (By A. P.).

Catholic schools in Mexico will not be closed on July 31, when the government's regulations go into effect, according to the report of the school owners' committee at a meeting of 134 school owners yesterday. All the Catholic schools have been sold and the new owners are willing to comply with the religious regulations, having reached an understanding with the secretary of education.

It is asserted that all Catholic organizations have been dissolved and that the foreign members are leaving the country, very few remaining as teachers. It is also said that the church authorities are united on the question of closing the churches on July 31, but will issue a pastoral letter next Wednesday advising the attitude to be adopted.

Orangemen Celebrate Peace After 12 Years

Philadelphia, July 18 (By A. P.).

To celebrate the end of a 12-year controversy and conclude their annual convention, more than 1,500 members of the Supreme Grand Lodge, Loyal Orange Institute, and affiliated orders gathered at the Orange Home for the Orphaned and Aged at Harbor, Pa., John McCullough, grand secretary of Pennsylvania, was the principal speaker. "It is appropriate that we meet here," he said, "for this place has been a bone of contention among us for 12 years. The year 1914 saw the schism of the Orangemen, when, at Niagara Falls, one-third of our body seceded; with them they took the home, after years of litigation, it has been restored to us and the blot of dissension has been wiped out."

He announced that officers of the organization had decided to raise a fund of $100,000 to rehabilitate the home.

"There's no such thing as gambling in Illinois under the law," said the judge. "Just walk right up to that fellow and get your money back. He'll have to give it to you."

OFFERINGS AT THE THEATERS

PALACE

Acclaimed by Europe and Broadway as one of the greatest pictures of the screen, "Variety" opened at the Palace yesterday. It is an intensely emotional tragedy, with no comedy relief, which holds the audience spellbound at the dramatic situations presented at numerous intervals throughout the run of the picture.

"Variety" opens in a warden's office where "Convict 28" consents to tell the story of the tragedy that ruined his life ten years before. At that time Boss Huller and his wife Bertha-Marie, were the favorite aerialists of Berlin's carnival. Boss (Emil Jannings), was a devoted and adoring husband who waited upon his wife, even to the extent of darning her stockings! Bertha-Marie (played by Lya De Putti), the idolized wife, was perfectly content and happy with her husband.

Then came the opening of the "Wintergarten" and the influx of the various kinds of artists into Berlin. With them came Artinelli, famous aerialist, unable to fill his stellar contract because his brother-trapeze performer had fallen from a trapeze and could not go on with him. Learning of the ability of Boss and his wife and won by the beauty of Bertha-Marie, Artinelli contracts with them. In the intimate association that follows an affair soon begins between Bertha-Marie and Artinelli. Ought she does not come home. Even then the doting husband is ashamed of his half-suspicion when she tells him she loves to dance. But they have been seen and unknown to them Boss learns of his wife's perfidy and his friend's deceit. Crazed with grief, his numbed mind thinks only of revenge. Dazed, he goes for their act and then the idea comes to him that if only Artinelli should miss his waiting hands after his triple death-defying leap through the air with a sack over his head—then here is the tremendous crisis that marks a man's life hangs on the thin thread of a man's jealous thirst for vengeance! Artinelli does not know that Boss has discovered his love for his wife. Boss broods over it until his crazed mind is appeased by the horrible vengeance which it has craved.

"Variety" presents a different type of picture than is usually seen and brings in some wonderful photographic views of the German Wintergarten trapeze acting and scenes of the circus life. The photographic effects are indeed interesting.

Supplementing the film feature are an "Our Gang" comedy "The Deriding Fleas," Pathe Newsreel, Topics of the Day, and Screen Snapshots. Prof. Gannon's overture, "Morning, Noon and Night," holds up to the Palace standard.

RIALTO

An elaborate and meritorious bill reveals itself under the spotlight at the Rialto this week—one of those bills that winks at hot weather and lures the theatergoer to stay out the last film flicker.

Just where the bill is best is hard to say; in fact, one does not recall spots. Our Gang comedy titillates the risibilities, refreshes and reorganizes the nervous system for the week ahead; Lon Chaney has the world fighting with him through the storm scenes of his life; Princess Nacomee captivates with her soft violin notes set to a temperamental background, and Starr and Fields and Bernard Fitzgerald please the pair with clever dance steps, the one with Irish songs in a lyric tenor voice.

"The Trap" is Lon Chaney's vehicle for a masterful, forceful portrayal of a simple Canadian woodsman's life. It is done with the customary craftsmanship of Chaney. It is the story of a man's soul—pure as to motives that often lurk in those of men—planned by a trickster both as to fortune and love. It is the story of that soul's descent into the hell of hate and cunning revenge, its purification and rise again—this time to magnificent heights.

The play abounds with powerful and strong acting on the part of Chaney into which is thrown all of his clever and astounding depiction of character through facial contortions. Playing opposite him is seen Alan Hale and Dagmar Godowsky. It is Chaney, however, around whom the play revolves.

Our Gang comedy is a clever adaptation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" by the kids. It is packed full of good laughs and genuine human emotion.

"The Land of Sky Blue Water" was Princess Nacomee's offering. For her overture Conductor Guterson rendered "Violets," by Waldteufel.

The entire program, one splendidly balanced and well cast, concludes with the usual newsreel.

EARLE

Amid a wonderful setting of beautiful drapings, the Earle this week presents several good acts, each of which dancing predominates.

Holland and Barry carry off the honors with their wonderful Spanish dancing to the picking of guitars by the Troubadours—closing with their fine interpretation of an Americanized version of a Spanish dance to the tune of "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Charles O'Connor and Violet McKee, assisted by the Leslie sisters, Sidney Franklin and Jack Moesser brought out some good dancing. Jack Moesser showed the audience what the Charleston really is.

The "Five Original Honey Boys" in their black-face song and dance numbers were very good—the yodling songs being well received.

Putti, the idolized wife, was perfectly content and happy with her husband.

Accompanying Alexander Arons in his organ concert this week are Max Pugalsky (violinist) and Mr. Hellinger (cellist). Their rendition of Aria from "Samson and Delilah" is worthy of exceptional note.

The feature film attraction is "Senor Daredevil," introducing a new star, Ken Maynard, in the title role. The story is of the West where men are men and a great many are villains. Against the background of the mountains and prairies of Nevada, a powerful story is built around "Goldstrike," a rich but undeveloped town, slowly starving because of bandit villainy.

George Nichols gives a sympathetic characterization of Tiger O'Flaherty who has built up the little town that finally deserts him to a man, but who at last sees it saved by his own son. Josef Swickard and a Pathe magazine of the screen.

The usual orchestral embellishment by the Brustloff aggregation completes the bill.

TIVOLI

The adventures of an American war veteran, the scenes where he had met a nurse of transcendental charm are pictured in "Say It Again," the Paramount production in which Richard Dix is diverting the audience with two days of the present week. The story is fashioned along lines best adapted to the brisk methods and ingenuity of the screen.

That he should be mistaken for a crown prince and that the nurse should turn out to be the queen of a Balkan kingdom such as George Swickard and a Pathe magazine of the screen.

Alice Mills, Chester Conklin, "Gambol" Smith, Bernard Randall, Ida Waterman and William Ricard are among the distinctly competent members of the supporting cast. The comedy for the first bill this week at the Tivoli is Mark Bennett's amusing two-reel commentary on the vexing problems that harass "Wandering Willie," and a new issue of the Pathe Review also is shown.

The program is rounded out by abbreviated camera subjects and excellent pipe organ embellishment by Otto F. Beck, Ida V. Clarke, associate.

METROPOLITAN

Yesterday marked the final presentation of one of the best balanced and most interesting bills in the history of Crandall's Metropolitan theater, which today is in the hands of a large force of artists, artisans, architects and mechanics, who will bring about a surprisingly complete metamorphosis in the appearance of the house in the brief interval between last midnight and Saturday morning, July 31, when the house will reopen for a season far surpassing anything it has heretofore attempted.

While bookings already have been made for the first few weeks of the Metropolitan's greater movie season, the nature of the bills and the identities of the special added attractions will not at this time be divulged. It is sufficient to convey a sense of the amusement lovers of Washington that in its rejuvenated state Crandall's Metropolitan will, in a short two weeks, again take its place as one of the Capital's preeminent picture palaces, well abreast of the foremost houses in the United States in quality of entertainment and the physical requisites of beauty, comfort and aplousness.

For some months past we, who religiously follow the movies, have been entertained whenever Miss Bebe Daniels flickers, locally, by a species of farce-comedy productions. Notably, there was a production of an old Hopwood stage piece—all about Miss Bluebeard—when this same Bebe starred.

Things change, however, and it's a far cry from the old refrain "So This Is Love" to the wall music of the dusky folk who inhabited the isle of Martinique in 1850—but, Bebe makes the grade. She interprets the role of Zabelle du Chauvaons, who has spent most of her life in a French convent, returning to Martinique a few weeks subsequent to the death of her father. His widow, from whom the father had become estranged, believes the girl to be the offspring of an amour between the father and a half-caste sweetheart. With this promising start, the story rapidly gets under way—there are marshaled loves and hates and comedy and drama, in quick succession. The piece de resistance, and incidentally the dramatic climax, comes with the eruption of Mont Pelee which buries the town, and from which disaster Zabelle and her lover are saved.

Prominent in the cast are: Ricardo Cortez, who is the lover; Arthur Edmund Carew, his brother; Wallace Beery, who interprets the assignment of emperor of the Quarter admirably, and a host of others of more or less fame.

Rounding out a well-balanced program, the Columbia presents: An Aescop fable cartoon, "A Big Boy comedy entitled "Excess Baggage" in which the kids run riot on a Union Pacific special, the Newsreel and a Pathe magazine of the screen.

The usual orchestral embellishment by the Brustloff aggregation completes the bill.

AMBASSADOR

With a title that will immediately attract the attention of the moviegoers, William Fox's production of "More Pay, Less Work" the story from another of Peter B. Kyne's stories of the business experiences of that crabbied old man, Cappy Ricks, is affording exceptional diverting screen entertainment at Crandall's Ambassador theater the first two days of this week. The companion attraction is Christie's new two-reel comedy starring Neal Burns in the role of "Mr. Wife." Added short reels and delightful pipe-organ accompaniment and solo interludes complete the program.

This time Mr. Kyne has made the rivalry between Cappy and another ship owner, frantically blustering old Hinchfield, the background for a spirited romance. Cappy has a pretty daughter, while Hinchfield has an energetic young son who has monopolized the business along with the old lines with the title of the picture as his slogan. The climax of the heart interest as well as the fun is reached when it becomes necessary for a certain ship to be docked at a certain hour and Willie Hinchfield commands one of Cappy's tugs for the job.

CENTRAL

The story of a restless wife with a penchant for what seemed to be innocent flirtations is engrossingly related in the Warner Brothers production of "Silken Shackles," being presented as major feature of the bill for the first two days of the current week at Crandall's Central theater. The companion offering is also a genial affair bearing the title of "Buried Treasure" and providing the juvenile members of the audience with a splendid vehicle for their mischievous activities.

Irene Rich, Huntley Gordon and Victor Varconi, remembered for his fine work as the aristocratic royalist officer in "The Volga Boatman," are cast in the principal roles of this handsomely mounted drama. Miss Rich is the flippant spouse who perceives in her husband only a husband, but mistakes a good looking Hungarian violinist for romance. The bill is completed by a varied list of shorter subjects and melodious pipe organ accompaniment and solo interludes.

"Surprises," an act offered by Fred Ardath as the headline attraction at Keith's theater this week, is chock full of that sort of thing—and it is, further, an enjoyable offering from beginning to end, with an extra added touch by way of encore in a very fine rendition of the overseas song, "The Big Parade."

Dancing is the keynote of the entire bill. Hardly an act but some one pays tribute to terephore. It remains for Lucille Ballantine and her four boy friends—Ernie Haber, Tom Atlas and Ted Wheeler and Will Allen—to furnish the bulk of the steps. Miss Ballantine is a talented dancer of various styles, occupy the dance spot on the bill; rather a good program for the hot weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Phillips, with their young son, Norman, Jr., seen here last with George White's "Scandals," present a hodge-podge; Chariz Chase, a pantomimist, gets away with a line of low comedy; Leo Beers, the fellow with the piano, the lamp, the cane and the palm beach outfit, puts on his usual act, songs and patter; Great Johnson, a silent entertainer, opens the bill; Bert and Dolly Ryan, ski dancers, occupy the dance spot, and Mulroy, McNece and Ridge, skaters, close the show.

The usual house features, Pathe News Pictorial, Aescop's Fables and C. Frederic Clark's orchestra, round out a vaudeville entertainment in keeping with the usual midsummer season. Nothing to write home about, yet a good, steady, well-balanced ensemble.

THE ECLIPSE STAKES.

By winning the Eclipse Stakes at Sandown park, Lord Woolavington's game 3-year-old colt Coronach followed in the footsteps of many previous derby winners, like Ayrshire, Isinglass, Persimmon, Flying Fox, and Diamond Jubilee. Badly beaten by Colorado in the Two Thousand Guineas at Newmarket in April, Coronach rehabilitated himself by turning the tables on his former conqueror and annexing the Epsom derby in June, and then proved that that victory was no fluke by going on to win the St. James' Palace Stakes at Ascot in gallant style a few weeks later. By taking the Sandown park race on Friday last, Coronach brought his total winnings for the present season to over £27,000, and the season is yet comparatively young, with several big events awaiting decision.

The Eclipse Stakes is the most valuable race of the whole year in England, being worth £12,000. When first established in 1886, it was won by the mighty Bendigo, son of Ben Battle and Hasty Girl. Bendigo was then six years old, and by his performances in the Lincolnshire handicap, the Cesarewitch, and the Cambridgeshire, had already proved himself to be probably the greatest handicap horse of all time. He was an immense public favorite, and he set the seal on his reputation when he won the weight-for-age event over the mile and a quarter at Sandown park.

The most sensational winner of the Eclipse Stakes was undoubtedly Sunfoot. He was a speedy, but bad-tempered and uncertain horse, and when he was saddled and mounted for the Sandown race, his first act was to try to tear the leg off his jockey. Baffled in this intention, he emerged in sulky mood on the track, bolted immediately, and galloped the full distance of the race by himself, with the rider clinging on for bare life. Finally, he got off to a flying start, but after the first few strides, balked and refused to struggle, getting so far in the rear of the field of nine that the bookmakers raucously bellowed offers of 100 to 1 against him, with no takers. Then, when the other horses were close home, he took the bit in his teeth and, with a burst of speed probably unparalleled before or since on any race track, he made up his leeway, went by really great horses, like Common, Gouverneur, and Memoir, as if they were standing and was easily first when the winning post was reached. It was, on the whole, the most astounding performance ever given by a thoroughbred in actual competition.

Lord Astor's Cross Bow, winner of the Royal Hunt cup at Ascot in June, was thought by some capable judges to have a chance in Friday's race, but he was not able to live with Coronach. At that, he did fairly well to secure third place, even if he was ten lengths behind the winner at the finish.

A man from Mars might wonder how many votes a farmer has.

A PAGE FROM HISTORY.

A conference of delegates from the so-called corn States, comprising eleven, will be held tomorrow in Des Moines, Iowa. The Republican State convention of Iowa will be held the following day.

Doubtless the corn belt delegates will denounce Congress for failing to pass the McNary-Haugen farm bill. They hold that it is the only plan that "will bring the farmers of the corn belt States up to the economic level of Eastern industrial States." The cry will be raised at the conference: "The farm relief bill or no tariff." This may be held up to the Republican State convention as a threat to those in Iowa who believe in the principle of a protective tariff.

If this is the true situation, it looks ominous on the surface, since eleven States are involved, many of which will elect United States senators and all of which will elect representatives this fall. The delegates to the corn conference will probably keep this fact before the Iowa Republican State convention. What will the State convention do? All eyes are turned toward Iowa, and those interested in national politics are awaiting the result.

A chapter of political history may afford light and comfort to the timid and doubtful. In the memorable year 1896, the United States Senate stood: 44 Republicans, 39 Democrats, 6 Populists and Silverites and 1 vacancy. The Republicans fell one short of having a majority over all. The free silver craze was on; and five silver States, with senators favorable to that doctrine, raised the cry: "Free silver coinage or no tariff."

In 1890 Iowa had turned against protection and the McKinley tariff, electing five Democrats and free silverites to the House. The Iowa Democratic State convention of 1896 demanded free silver coinage and free trade. While the Iowa Republican State convention stood nominally for protection, it was weakened by the threat of many Republicans: "Free silver coinage or no tariff."

and flocked by themselves. However, the Republicans had the courage to repudiate free silver coinage, stood by the doctrine of protection, and came out victorious, winning both houses of Congress. But the battle was not won until the last hour, when the banner of protection and sound money was raised unflinchingly.

There is a wholesome lesson to be learned from this page of political history. The Republicans have never won except when they have stood on sound principles; and they have lost when they trimmed and compromised. Whenever they lost while standing on sound principles, the defeat has led to a subsequent greater victory.

UNDERVALUATION OF IMPORTS.

The greatest difficulty under which the customs division of the Treasury labors arises out of the dishonesty of many foreign manufacturers who undervalue their goods consigned to the American markets. This is no new device of the foreigner to defraud the customs. The practice has been going on ever since the protective tariff policy was adopted. Duties based upon values have always been conducive to fraud upon the revenues. The dishonest importer conspiring with the equally unethical exporter not only has enjoyed an unfair advantage over his honest competitor but has defrauded his country for many years.

In the hope of breaking up undervaluation frauds Chairman Fordney wrote into the tariff bill which bore his name a proviso that duties should be based upon the American market value of the imports, rather than upon the price alleged to have been paid to the foreign producer. The Senate struck out the American valuation plan and inserted a paragraph which gives the President the right under the flexible provisions to increase or decrease such duties, basing the new figures upon the difference in cost of production at home and abroad of like products. It was expected that this partial delegation of the power of Congress to fix duties on imports would result in materially reducing the fraudulent practices of exporters and importers, but the expectation has not been realized.

Up to the present time President Coolidge has rarely exercised his prerogative in this matter and never in connection with the tariff on articles of manufacture which are most persistently undervalued. The Treasury Department, however, has been conducting a vigorous and persistent campaign against the conspirators who have been the greatest offenders.

Following the approval of the tariff law of 1922 the special agents' service of the customs was reorganized and the personnel of the foreign service section largely increased. The result has justified the reorganization, for in three years the direct collections of additional taxes from undervalued goods have increased from $112,378 in 1922 to $775,703 in 1925. When this result, which means 590 per cent, came to the attention of the bureau of the budget and Congress the recommendation of Secretary Mellon that half a million dollars be added to the appropriation for this particular service was approved.

Under the circumstances, and in spite of the walls of offenders against the American revenue laws, in England, France and Germany particularly, the campaign against undervaluation of imports will proceed more vigorously than ever this year with results which are certain to add many thousands to the customs revenues, even though the practice may never be completely broken up.

You can't judge by appearance. Some of the funniest legs on the links belong to professionals.

COMBATING DISEASE.

Two announcements of interest to suffering humanity have recently been made public, one by the Rockefeller foundation, the other by the British empire cancer campaign. Although in neither case have definite remedies been found, it is evident that progress is being made by the Rockefeller foundation toward stamping out malaria, and that scientific knowledge regarding cancer is being extended by the English.

Malaria takes a yearly world toll of 2,000,000 lives, and is essentially a rural problem. It is generally believed that the mosquito, anopheles quadrimaculatus, is the carrier. During 1925, 34 counties in New York were given financial aid in carrying on campaigns toward stamping out the carrier, and indications are that the undertaking has been a success.

Although nothing as definite is reported by the British empire cancer campaign, still much comfort may be gleaned from the statement that certain researches at the Lister Institute have proved a success. An antiserum has been developed which causes cancer to disappear in rats, although it has been impossible to make any application of it as yet to human needs. Furthermore, it has been established definitely that cancer-producing tars and paraffins were largely those which had been heated in manufacture to a very high temperature, and the idea that the presence of one cancer protects against the growth of others has been disposed of.

It is to be hoped that unscrupulous persons will not make these dispatches the basis of exploitation of various cures. Only very recently has the Department of Agriculture found it necessary to issue a warning against indiscriminate use of "radium tonics." So far there has been offered no malaria or cancer cure, but a waiting world is anxiously watching the experiments.

GERMAN FINANCIAL RECOVERY.

Students of economics are interested in the rapid recovery of Germany since its adoption of sound money and sound financial and economic principles. When the war was over, Germany was in a bad way. Conditions grew worse when an attempt was made to continue business and travel the road of rehabilitation by means of inflated paper currency. Paper marks were printed in vast quantities in the vain hope that irredeemable currency would restore prosperity and make Germany the industrial leader of the world.

For a time this policy brought about what appeared to be good business and unusual progress. In fact this false prosperity was pointed to by many in the United States as proof of the claim that the value of money lies wholly in the stamp of the government; and bills were actually introduced in the American Congress as late as 1921 to restore prosperity in the United States by printing as much paper money as the business of the country required!

Germany suffered, and learned its lesson. Since its adoption of the so-called Dawes plan, which is really the receiver's plan, Germany has risen to its financial and economic feet and made great progress toward industrial and financial stability.

During the year 1925-26 Germany reduced taxes, stabilized its currency, inaugurated a new financial system based on gold or real values, defeated and well-nigh repudiated its old paper mark circulation and brought prices, industry and wages to a normal level. This has not been brought about without great hardship and suffering; yet hardship and suffering always follow in the wake of wild, reckless and false financing.

Correct this sentence: "She had it cut very close this time," said the woman, "but her dad didn't growl about it."

THE DISTRICT CODE.

Thirty years were required to secure congressional indorsement of the work of various committees of the House and Senate toward codifying the statutes of the United States at large. The task was finally accomplished and the bill passed during the last few weeks of the session just closed. However, the final disposition of that long pending measure did not bring to an end the labors of the committee on the revision of the laws, of which Representative Roy Fitzgerald, of Ohio, is chairman. That committee has started on a similar codification of the statutes affecting the District of Columbia.

For this purpose Congress authorized an initial appropriation of $7,500 and at a conference between Mr. Fitzgerald and several members of the District Bar association last week preliminary plans were outlined and the initial steps taken toward bringing the laws of the District down to date in concise and readily accessible form.

The work will require the careful attention of competent men to prepare "legal copy" for a period of at least eighteen months, it is estimated, and the cost probably will reach $25,000. But the benefits which will follow the compilation will far outweigh the cost, and the final action of Congress in adopting the proposed code will simplify the practice of law in the District through presenting in one volume the acts of Congress affecting the District over a period of many years.

If only those who have the itch for office wouldn't use their salve on other people.

EFFICIENT COOPERATIVE MARKETING.

The appointment of Mr. Chris L. Christensen to head the division of cooperative marketing in the Department of Agriculture gives concrete form to the new cooperative marketing law signed by President Coolidge just before Congress adjourned. Raised as a Nebraska farm boy, Mr. Christensen, upon taking his degree from the University of Nebraska, entered upon a fellowship in the University of Copenhagen, Denmark, to make special studies of cooperation in that country, where the practice of that science is so far advanced. From Denmark he came directly to the Department of Agriculture two years ago, where, as chief of the division of agricultural cooperation, he wrote the book "Agricultural Cooperation in Denmark" characterized as a classic in that field of literature.

Since the work of the new bureau will be so comprehensive and so important, it is most fitting that it has at its head a man so well equipped. Unfortunately, the history of the cooperative movement in this country, despite several outstanding successes, has been characterized by many outstanding failures. There have been attempts, born on waves of enthusiasm, to establish such associations in communities where the size of the crop did not warrant their existence, or where other previously established agencies were handling the situation in a satisfactory manner. There has been reluctance, partly because there has been no clearing house of information, to pass on effective measures and bitterly learned knowledge.

Stories of exploitation, borne from mouth to mouth, have awakened a great distrust of organization in the minds of many farmers. Improper financing, coupled with too frequent incompetent management, have beaten many cooperatives almost before they have been started. Politics and extreme radicalism, in certain sections, have led many of the associations far from the fields for which they were intended.

These are a few of the problems facing the new bureau. Acting as a diagnostician of difficulties and a disseminator of information, it can do much to clean up the present unsettled state of affairs.

The Worst Story I Heard Today—By Will Rogers

The Worst Joke I heard today was told to me by Miss Florence Willie, originally of Texas, now of New York city, and lately Lake Como, Italy. She and Miss Taggart were in the lobby of the hotel in Madrid, and when we each heard each other talking "sense," why, we naturally got acquainted. You know, there are very few over there talk sense. English is the nearest you get to it.

Well, Miss Willie claimed they were traveling in England one time when the following happened:

A Scotchman and an Englishman had just visited the resort of Brighton, and the Englishman had bought a very pretty souvenir cup and saucer with the words "Brighton" on them, as a remembrance of his visit. He tried to get the Scotchman to purchase one for his wife but without any result. On the way back home they were in the dining car, and the Scotchman's conscience commenced to hurt him because he was bringing nothing home for his wife. So he appropriated a cup and saucer, bearing the words "London and South"

PRESS COMMENT.

Coolidge Fish Stories.

Indianapolis News: Still, if President Coolidge could manage to be caught telling a whopping good fish story, the farmers might know how to make due allowance for his New England manufacturing stories.

Automobile Power.

Detroit News: Engineers have determined that the modern automobile, in proportion to its weight, is eight times more powerful than a locomotive. This statistic, so far, has not been unusually demonstrable at railroad crossings.

The Ring of Progress.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Over 6,000,000 calls are made over the telephone in New York city in a single day. Which is one phase of the progress between Philadelphia's centennial and Philadelphia's sesquicentennial.

Mussolini's Ambition.

Philadelphia Inquirer: Were we the King of Italy we'd take a good long time to consider that proposed match which it is reported Mussolini would like to make between his daughter and the crown prince. Marriage among royals lasts a long time, while dictators are here today and gone tomorrow, or sometimes sooner.

Diplomatic Qualifications.

Cincinnati Enquirer: The labor leader in the house of commons, who the other day called Lady Astor a liar, and later modified his accusation by saying that she had been guilty of terminological inexactitude, should be promoted to the diplomatic service at once.

The Prince's Joke on Rogers.

Baltimore Sun: Will Rogers is about the politest person on earth. He ostensibly admires the snappy suggestion of the Prince of Wales that he would like to hear what Rogers would say "when he felt the cold steel of an ax at the back of his neck." Rogers pretends to regard that as an up-to-the-minute quip, although, as he surely knows, the ax was royalty's best card for centuries on end. The kings of some years back always used it when they couldn't think of anything to say.

Vanishing Slums.

Chicago News: At the recent international congress of settlement workers in Paris an address that challenged particular attention dwelt on the effects of American prosperity in the field of social service. Experienced social workers of New York asserted that the prosperity enjoyed by American wage workers threatened to deprive settlements and neighborhood centers of their essential functions. The motor car, they contended, was revolutionizing community life in the neighborhoods cultivated by the settlements, and readjustments to new conditions were becoming necessary.

Losing Hard Coal Markets.

Philadelphia Record: The United States bureau of mines estimates that the Southern anthracite field, including Dauphin county and a large part of Schuylkill, contains enough hard coal to last 494 years at the present rate of production. The unmined coal is reckoned at nearly 1,000,000,000 tons. This sounds encouraging, but it is a safe guess that unless the anthracite operators and miners stop their everlasting disputes and cooperate in a fashion that will allow their coal to be sold at a more reasonable figure the use of anthracite will have ceased before 2334 and much of the deposits will remain in the ground untouched. Electricity, oil, gas, and the better grades of bituminous coal and other fuels are making such inroads into the anthracite market that its future is problematical.

A Man of Flame and Ferment

By GLENN FRANK

MIGUEL DE UNAMUNO, the Spanish dreamer whom the Spanish dictator exiled when he dared to speak from his philosopher's closet about political controversies, is a shining survival—a great prophet after the days of the great prophets.

He has been hounded and harassed by eager followers who are disappointed because they cannot find in his elusive essays a nice and neat set of dogmas that they can worship without working for.

"What is your religion?" they are forever asking him. "Those who put this question to me," he says, "want me to give them a dogma, a solution which they can accept without disturbing their mental inertia. Or rather it is not this that they want, so much as to be able to label me and put me into one of the divisions in which they classify minds. And I do not wish to have myself labeled."

"What I fly from, as from the plague, is any kind of classification of myself, and when I die I hope I shall still hear these intellectual slugs inquiring: 'And this gentleman, what is he?'"

"Liberal or progressive fools will take me for a reactionary and perhaps for a mystic, without understanding, of course, what they may mean; and conservative and reactionary fools will take me for a kind of spiritual anarchist; and both of them will pity me as an unfortunate gentleman anxious to distinguish himself by singularity, hoping to be reputed an original, and with a bonnet full of bees."

"But no one need worry about what fools think of him, be they progressive or conservative, liberal or reactionary."

Saying this, Unamuno shrugs his shoulders, as if in despair of ever dampening mankind's passion for panaceas or satisfying its hunger for opinions manufactured and marketed for.

"Since man does not habitually thirst for the truth," he goes on, "these busy inquirers, if they chance to read this, will return to me with the question: 'Well, but what solutions do you offer?'"

"And I will tell them, once and for all, that if it is solutions they want, they can go to the shop opposite, for I do not deal in the article. My earnest desire has been, and is, and will be that those who read me should think and meditate on fundamental things, and it has never been to furnish them with thoughts ready made."

"I have always sought to agitate and to suggest rather than to instruct. 'It is not bread that I sell, not bread, but yeast, ferment.' Miguel—man of flame and ferment—may your tribe increase! You bring life to our labeled minds. You are tonic to our tagged generation."

RADIO WAVE LENGTHS.

In order to make more clear the reasons for the problems of radio regulation, I desire now to discuss for a few minutes the scientific theory as to how radio communications are carried through the ether, said Senator Dill in the Senate on June 30. Scientists tell us that light waves, heat waves, and radio waves all travel at the same speed, namely, 186,000 miles, or 300,000,000 meters per second. The light waves are exceedingly short, the heat waves slightly longer than the light waves, and the radio waves still longer than the heat waves.

The waves that can be used for radio purposes range from 1 meter to 33,000 meters in length. The length of a wave length is the distance from the crest of one radio wave to the crest of the next radio wave. The mechanical instruments used in broadcasting send impulses out into the ether, and the results are termed "wave lengths." The faster these impulses are sent out the shorter the distance between the resulting waves in the ether, and thus the shorter the wave length.

When a transmitter sends 100,000 impulses per second, which travel at the speed of light—namely, 300,000,000 meters per second—the length of the wave lengths is found by dividing 300,000,000 meters, the distance traveled, by 100,000 impulses, which gives 3,000 meters. In other words, there are 100,000 impulses or waves when a 3,000-meter wave length is used.

If the wave length be reduced from 3,000 meters to 300 meters then the transmitter must send out ten times as many impulses, or 1,000,000 impulses per second. If the wave length be reduced to 30 meters, the transmitter must send out 10,000,000 impulses per second. If the wave length be reduced to 3 meters, the transmitter must send out 100,000,000 impulses per second, and if to 1 meter, 300,000,000 impulses per second.

ONE BUSY MINUTE.

The naval observatory at Washington has now released its fine pictures of the solar eclipse at Sumatra, which were obtained under nerve racking conditions, says the Philadelphia Ledger. This expedition had chosen the village of Kepahiang for the site of the 65 foot telescope, which it had brought from America and set up with a month's labor. On the day of days the sun was hidden by clouds for the first two of the precious three minutes of totality. The eclipse was only too complete. Then came a rift, which gave the five astronomers 60 seconds to work. So perfectly were their careful plans carried out that in this very brief space of time they obtained some of the best pictures of the sort that have been taken.

LOUD SPEAKING.

(For young orators.)
By ARCHIBALD HOPKINS.
He who orates very loud, Certain is to draw a crowd; It almost always is the case That he who shouts is commonplace. Fairly judge the sounding words. They are mostly barnyard birds. Message that is rare and choice Cometh with a quiet voice. He who shouts most, vainly tries To make his words seem new and wise.

Unto those who judge of speech By its power to move and teach, Emerson's amazing flow Was modulated, clear and low. But packed with stimulating thought And with undying wisdom fraught, Noise the simple may deceive. But those who are judicious grieve. No matter how emotion urges, Do not become a Boanerges. You are not talking to a nation; So do not be a bull of Bashan. Men of judgment and of poise Are not stirred by vocal noise; A tale with sound and fury told Invariably leaves them cold. If you still think shouting nice Turn to Hamlet for advice.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Caterpillars.

To the Editor of The Post:—Sir: I have discovered today that the shields regulating motor parking seem to be the breeding place for caterpillars. If each householder would destroy the ones under the shield in front of his house millions would be exterminated.

News From Fort Eustis.

To the Editor of The Post:—Sir: I have a boy, Richard B. Frey, in the citizens' military training camp at Fort Eustis, Va., and want to express my appreciation for the enterprise shown by you in keeping us in touch, through your columns, with the activities in that somewhat distant camp, in which so many of us are vitally interested. You took cognizance of the fact that, of "trainees" from the District in all camps, about 60 per cent are at this one camp. We are indebted to you. Of course, we get our letters from our boys, but you get us the news even more quickly.

The Barbara Fritchie Story.

To the Editor of The Post:—Sir: Some day the truth of that Barbara Fritchie flag yarn will be unearthed. But, like the Washington cherry-tree story, more than a century may be required to dig up the facts. Just why the people of Frederick should get "all het up" over the controversy at this season of the year, when tourists are all flocking their way, passed understanding. Whittier certainly put "Fredericktown" on the map when he wrote that poem describing the Fritchie incident; and through that poem Frederick has become the mecca to which thousands of trippers have tripped who would never have heard of the place. The census bureau has not yet published statistics showing the receipts garnered from visitors whose sole reason for stopping off in Frederick was to view the window from which Barbara aved the bunting, and deduced Stonewall and his minions to shoot it down.

However, this present outbreak of doubt is but the recrudescence of the controversy which raged in the Postoffice Department back in the days when Frank Hatton was Postmaster General. Two of the ladies employed in the department got into a wordy war over the Barbara Fritchie story. One of the two insisted that the flag was held by a lady whose name was neither Barbara nor Fritchie, but that the waver was Caroline, or Katherine, Quantrell, and that she, Kate, was own cousin to the disputant.

Charlotte Smith, who at the time was the arbiter of disputes between female employees of the Federal departments, appealed to Postmaster General Hatton to initiate an investigation for the purpose of settling the question once and for ever. But Mr. Hatton's term was about to expire; one of the controversialists resigned and the controversy ended. Now it has broken out again, but thus far no one has arisen to expose the cent bug. Quantrell. OLD OBSERVER.

PHI BETA KAPPA.

Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest Greek letter society in America. It was founded December 5, 1776, at William and Mary college, and had established chapters at Yale, Harvard and Dartmouth before 1800, says the Kansas City Star. It was originally secret and social in character, but gradually this was dropped and the fraternity became what it is today—an honorary society, membership in which is conferred at graduation, or shortly before. To be chosen is a high scholastic honor. Women as well as men may belong. The Greek letters, Phi, Beta, Kappa, stand for "Philosophy, Beta, Kuberbetes," meaning "philosophy the guide of life." The emblem is a small gold watch key.

GREATEST OF RUM RINGS IS HUNTED IN NEW YORK

Exceeds $25,000,000 Dwyer Syndicate, Declare Federal Officers.

NEW REVELATIONS LIKELY

New York, July 18 (By A. P.).—The United States district attorney's office is now centering its efforts on breaking up a second rum ring, said to be even larger than the $25,000,000 syndicate of which William V. Dwyer is alleged to be head, the New York Times says.

Attaches of the district attorney's office, according to the Times, have admitted that still more startling rum running revelations than those made in the trial of Dwyer and his associates are imminent. Testimony in the Dwyer trial has involved alleged relations between both police and coast guards with liquor runners, and the district attorney's office is quoted as saying that still further evidence of official corruption may be found.

It is expected, the Times says, that when the authorities are ready to make their revelations concerning the second, bigger ring, an incident that will figure is that of the $9,500 "mystery money" which Capt. Hugo O. Wunsche, of the marine division of the police, found on his desk last April. It was thought at the time that the money was placed on the wrong desk and that it had nothing to do with the capture about that time of two rum boats.

Shanghai Postal Strike Ends.
Shanghai, July 18 (By A. P.).—Postal employees here numbering more than 2,000, who went on strike last week, have agreed to return to work with the understanding their demands for higher wages will be adjusted from Peking.

Murder Case Against U. S. Autoist Dropped

Nice, France, July 18 (By A. P.).—The charge originally preferred against Donald Sherwood, New York artist, of first degree murder for having caused the death of Joseph Schoerling, a French soldier, has been modified to "unintentional manslaughter."

Schoerling was struck by Sherwood's automobile on May 25, and subsequently died. At the preliminary hearing Sherwood declared that the killing was accidental, but an alleged eye witness, Sergt. Marcel Fooks, testified that Sherwood first clubbed Schoerling and then drove his automobile over him to make it appear that the soldier's death was accidental.

MORE CROWDS VISIT SESQUI AMUSEMENTS

State to Try Quo Warranto Proceedings to Force Features Closed.

Philadelphia, July 18 (By A. P.).—All amusements at the sesqui-centennial exposition operated today as usual, and officials asserted that they were better patronized than on the two preceding Sundays, despite the protests and impending court action against opening the exposition on Sunday.

More than 20,000 persons visited the grounds, and the Gladway, where most of the amusements are, buzzed with activity. The exhibition buildings were visited by thousands.

Quo warranto proceedings in an effort to keep the amusement features of the sesqui closed on Sundays are to be started by the State this week in the Dauphin county courts.

Crowd Fights Blaze As Fire Chiefs Argue

Chicago (By the Associated Press).—Nero's fiddle had nothing on the verbal spiderweb two suburban fire chiefs wove here this evening. While they argued, worshippers of a camp meeting fought the fires, the walls of two buildings slowly crumbling away before the hot flames, and vitriolic showers of the helmeted and disputing fire-eaters.

DAYMAH EXPECTED TO REPEAT AT CHICAGO TRACK

Better Luck Baltimore and Wilmington Chosen By Collyer

Son Ami Is Given as Most Probable at Kenilworth.

Signola Is Selected as Outstanding for Dorval.

By BERT E. COLLYER.

CHICAGO, July 18.—PAYMAN. Right back on the beeper on this "anomaly" is the good word from the stable connections at Chicago. Has had enough between races to put him on razor edge. All of this takes place in the closing spasm.

A bad lot will compete in the opener and PAYMAN is entitled to first consideration. BETTER LUCK looks like the real article in the second, while KHALIFA has only to run to best form to carry the Camden colors to victory in the third. The Camden entry should also win the fifth race if DARK PHANTOM runs to her best form.

BANTER has a five-point call in the fourth heat, but CHINK is now at the top of his form and stands an excellent chance of putting up quite an argument.

In the sixth race, HENRY HORNER has raced in a manner to indicate that he is a juvenile crack. Take him right on the head.

Good racing is provided at the Canadian tracks. This applies especially to Kenilworth. The hotshots from this track is SON AMI, which goes in the fourth heat. Looks as though a good price should prevail in the Dorval feature. If there is such an affair, SIGNOLA would come home with all the potatoes.

HANDCLASP is my choice for the opener at Kenilworth, while ISABEL C. may make it three in a row in the second.

ANATIS looks best for the third and NEW BEATIE and NEW BEATIE are SEA FAIRY, WEDDING PRINCE and GUS R. Ye wekkum.

CHICAGO. First race—Paulo, Kings Court 11. World Court. Second race—Bettler Luck, Rocking, Red. Third race—Khalifa, The Wire, Dr. Maxon. Fourth race—Son Ami, Camden entry, Chicago, H. G. Bedwell entry. Fifth race—J. N. Camden entry, Chicago, H. G. Bedwell entry. Sixth race—Henry Horner, Sis Garry, Shasta Love. Seventh race—Payman, Freya, Beautiful Ad. Best—Payman.

DORVAL. First race—Gay Barman, Eliza Jane, Miss Content. Second race—Signola, Eda C. Peckas. Third race—Anatias, Elemental, Scraps. Fourth race—New Beauty, Lemnos, Desert Gold. Fifth race—Sea Fairy, Firebird, Manifold. Sixth race—Vedding Prince, Merschaum, Africa Pine. Seventh race—Gus R. Wida, Jacques. Best—Signola.

KENILWORTH. First race—Handclasp, Sergeant Seth, Olive Dexter. Second race—Isabel C. Warehoumen, Puff Ball. Third race—Leonard G. Muskallone, Best Shot. Fourth race—Son Ami, Compromise, Cross. Fifth race—Eucild, St. Valentine, B. A. Jones entry. Sixth race—Roxy Vase, Spugs, Muttie. Seventh race—Goldbug, Flying Cloud, Denaris. Best—Son Ami.

Best party—Goldbug, Barman, Signola place. RACELAND. First race—Silver Wings, Welly, Cecil. Second race—Barnum, Monck, Giff. Best—Grenner. Third race—Russell Case, Boy Ross, Bonny. MARKET DEALERS ARE OFFERED NEW CENTRAL TERMINAL

Maryland Avenue and Water Street Location Urged
on Wholesalers.

MORE THAN $1,000,000
IS PAID BY COMPANY

Many Economies Would Be Realized by Change, Says
Salvatore Scalco.

Efforts are being made to induce the wholesale market dealers of Washington to establish their places in a central terminal market, thereby not only solving the problem of location, which is being disputed, but obtaining a better system of wholesale marketing of food products, Salvatore Scalco, president of the National Fruit Co., said yesterday.

In face of the movement to improve the section south of Pennsylvania avenue now occupied by the wholesale market dealers, Mr. Scalco states that offers have been made to the dealers to establish in a location already selected.

The proposition presented, he said, is in line with the plan of a wholesale terminal market, which he suggested some years ago, and which was given wide indorsement by the national commission of fine arts, by citizens' associations and by many prominent persons.

Its merits are, he explains, that it will not only solve the problem of Mall development and city beautification, as far as the locations of wholesale markets are concerned, but that it will eliminate the expense of useless haulage, loss of products by unnecessary handling, and will provide adequate refrigeration.

The proposition made to the dealers, he said, is to locate at the railroad yards on Maryland avenue and Water street southwest between Twelfth and Fourteenth streets.

This tract was purchased by the Washington Market Co. last year at a cost of more than $1,000,000, he said. The location is near the municipal fish market, and is advantageous because of the railroad facilities, and the fact that the markets would be together in a continuous space.

In order that the terminal market might be realized, Mr. Scalco said, it will be necessary for the dealers to draw up a definite agreement that they will establish themselves in the market, thereby giving surety to the enterprise. Efforts are being made to secure such agreement.

Mr. Scalco declares that his only interest in the matter is to bring about a solution of the wholesale market situation here, and is not the basis of controversy. He asserts that the dealers should centralize somewhere, and if not at this place then another. By eliminating the unnecessary expense and simplifying wholesale market conditions, the cost of products to the consumer would be greatly reduced, he said.

Army Fliers Banned At Naval Carnival

Due to necessity of the War Department keeping aircraft flying to the minimum, army fliers will not be allowed to participate in the naval carnival to be held at Hampton Roads, Va., August 18-21. Secretary of War Davis has ruled. The prescribed work already laid out for aviators leaves no margin for participation in the event, he said. It was also pointed out that the War Department has no authority to forbid exhibition flying by army aviators from fields other than government-owned, except where an indemnity bond has been furnished to insure the government against liability.
